Friendship

Act as a mentor or buddy to a younger pupil who may need support at break or lunch over this half term

1

Lead by example - make it a goal to include someone new each week in an activity, then reflect in writing on how it made a difference

2

Write a friendship story that could inspire younger pupils to show kindness and be a good friend and share it at school

3

Keep a friendship leadership journal - reflect on how you've supported and encouraged others each week

4

Compassion

Write a letter of appreciation to someone who supports your learning or wellbeing in school – think beyond the obvious

1

Make a short video explaining what compassion means and how people can show it in school, at home and for the planet

2

Research a local charity that inspires you. Find a way to support the charity over the half-term. Make a short presentation to your class about the difference you have made.

3

Take on a job or responsibility at home for this half-term, eg helping with cooking, tidying up, or cleaning the kitchen to take the pressure off an adult and show kindness

4

Trust

Create a short role-play or freeze frame that shows someone building or breaking trust.

Perform it to your class or group and explain what we can learn from it

1

Use a Bible story or news article where trust played a big role. Retell it (written, comic strip, or short presentation) and explain what it teaches about trust.

2

Research a charity, leader or organisation that works to build trust (e.g. NSPCC, Red Cross, local council, faith figures). Share what they do and why trust matters

3

Write a letter to someone you admire (MP, sports leader, author, etc.) about why you trust their actions and how they influence others

4

Forgiveness

Create a cartoon strip or “peace path” that shows one situation you helped resolve – highlighting how forgiveness made a difference

1

Work with a partner or small group to create a short presentation/ drama for collective worship about the power of forgiveness. Include a story (from the Bible), a reflection and one action you’re encouraging others to take.

2

Design and create a bookmark with a Bible verse or quote about forgiveness. Give it to someone you’ve had a disagreement with as an act of reconciliation.

3

Research a faith or leader who teaches forgiveness (like Jesus, Gandhi or Mandela) How does this person teach about forgiveness? Share what you learnt for yourself.

4

Courage

Create a photo story or sketchbook showing yourself doing something outside your comfort zone – over time

1

Create a piece of art that shows what courage feels like

2

Choose something in your class or playground you think could be better. Share your idea with an adult and take one action to help make it happen

3

Write a short story, comic, or poem where a character shows real courage

4

Perseverance

Choose a learning skill you find hard and commit to practising it for 10 minutes a day over this half term until you feel confident with it

1

Volunteer for a responsibility and stick with it for at least a month

2

Commit to helping in The Secret Garden each day

3

Choose one small action to help the environment eg picking up litter, recycling properly, turning off unused lights or using less plastic - complete diary entries to show your impact over time
